Tenesol to exhibit extensive experience at PV Athens

Tenesol, the global solar power provider owned by energy giants TOTAL and EDF, will exhibit at Energy PV 2010 in Athens, Greece. The company, which has been present in Greece since 2007, will showcase its 26 years' experience as a turnkey PV solutions provider and global systems distributor.

Energy PV 2010 is the only international exhibition in Greece focused on PV systems and renewable energy. This year's event will be attended by more than 200 exhibitors and will take place between 21-24 October.

"Greece presents an exciting opportunity for continued growth in the PV market," says Claude Escala, European Director at Tenesol. "As a full service company, we have the experience and capability to deliver PV systems as both an engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) contractor and global module manufacturer. I look forward to welcoming visitors to our stand and demonstrating how our advanced PV solutions can be tailored to suit almost any requirement."

Tenesol will be located at booth GB 54 at PV Athens. A selection of company representatives from Tenesol including Claude Escala and members of the European business unit will be on hand to greet visitors.
